Guilford's New President 17

Kent John Chabotar was appointed the college's eighth president in April. His 30-year career in higher education includes positions at some of the nation's top institutions. He is also the first non-Quaker to be Guilford's chief executive officer.

From the Senate to the Capitol 20

Past Senate presidents Richard Ewell '95 and Stephanie Jennings '96 parlayed their Guilford education and leadership experience into jobs with the Federal Election Commission and the Fannie Mae Foundation in Washington, D.C., respectively.

Theatre Studies Goes Regional 24

Faculty member April Soroko and students in the theatre studies department are actively involved with the new professional regional theatre, Triad Stage. The interaction is mutually beneficial and strengthening the college's town-gown relationship.

Forensic Biology 38

Guilford will launch North Carolina's first forensic major this fall, but adult and traditional-age students are already studying crime-scene investigation under the guidance of longtime faculty member Frank Keegan. The new major adds to the college's reputation for innovative science education.
