Music by Austin Scott '43, Words by Russell Pope

Kindly light our founders kindled	Sacred mem'ries thru the archways	So our hearts and voices joining
Midst primeval oak and pine,	Of the swiftly passing years,	Echo Guilford's ancient fame.
Let thy radiance, truth revealing,	Still undimmed dear Alma Mater	Hallow'd be thine each endeavor.
Now upon our spirits shine.	Strengthen us, dispel our fears.	Hallow'd be fair Guilford's name.

Audience will please remain at their seats and refrain from blocking the aisles until all graduates have recessed.

Please join us for a reception on Founders Lawn immediately following the ceremony, with music by the Guilford College Jazz Ensemble: Brandon Walker '22 - bass, Spencer Treppel '22 - drums,

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The custom of wearing caps, gowns, and hoods at college functions dates to the Middle Ages. In 1895, a commission of American educational institutions met to craft a uniform code of academic regalia that is still in use today. As a Quaker-founded institution, Guilford recognizes that some individuals may choose not to wear regalia as a matter of personal conscience.

The style and color of cap, gown, and hood indicate both the level of the wearer's education and his or her field of study. The bachelor's degree recipient wears an unadorned, straight gown with long, pointed sleeves. The master's degree recipient wears a similar robe with shorter, less full sleeves. The doctorate-level robe is most elaborate, with velvet panels adorning the gown's front and sleeves.

The hood's design is highly symbolic: The colors of its silk lining typically denote the institution granting the degree, its velvet border signifies the degree's field, and the overall size indicates the level of degree (bachelor, master or doctor). The field of learning, rather than the department that governed the major work, determines the color of the velvet trim color on the hood. For instance, a master of arts wears a hood trimmed with a white border, irrespective of their major field.

If more than one degree is held, the gown and hood reflect the highest degree attained. The colors indicative of the various fields of learning are as follows:

Anthropology - Dark Blue	Engineering - Orange	Music - Pink
Arts - White	English - White	Philosophy - Dark Blue
Business Administration - Light Brown	Fine Arts - Brown	Physical Education - Sage Green
Communication - Crimson	Government - Peacock Blue	Political Science - Dark Blue
Counseling & Guidance - Light Blue	History - White	Psychology - Gold
Dramatic Arts - Brown	Humanities - White	Science - Gold
Economics - Copper	Literature - White	Sociology - White
Education - Light Blue	Library Science - Lemon	Theology - Scarlet
	Mathematics - Gold

FEATURED SPEAKER AND HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Mandy K. Cohen, MD, MPH, H'22 was appointed to the role of Secretary of the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) in January 2017 by Governor Roy Cooper. She and her team worked tirelessly during her tenure to improve the health, safety and well-being of all North Carolinians.

Dr. Cohen led the COVID-19 response for the State of North Carolina. Her team at NC DHHS oversaw the operational response – including hospital surge capacity, testing capacity, tracing capacity, and PPE availability – in addition to constructing the advanced data infrastructure necessary to collect and analyze key data points to drive decision making. Secretary Cohen also led the development of North Carolina policy guidance which informed the actions needed to slow COVID-19 spread.

A graduate of Cornell University, she received her medical degree from Yale School of Medicine and a Master's in Public Health from the Harvard School of Public Health. She trained in Internal Medicine at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Dr. Cohen is an internal medicine physician and has experience leading complex health organizations. Before coming to the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services, she was the Chief Operating Officer and Chief of Staff at the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). She has been recognized as a national leader for her work at DHHS. In February of 2019, Modern Healthcare named Cohen one of the Top 25 Women Leaders in Healthcare. In September of 2020, she was awarded the Leadership in Public Health Practice Award from Harvard University's T.H. Chan School of Public Health for her strong leadership during the COVID-19 pandemic response, including her use of data and ability to communicate with empathy, compassion, and transparency.

Dr. Cohen currently serves as Executive Vice President of a health-care company, Aledade, and Chief Executive Officer of its new health-services unit, Aledade Care Solutions.
